Volunteer Centers mobilize volunteers to assist community organizations and address local needs. Local not-for-profit organizations (such as the American Heart Association, American Cancer Society, United Way, etc.) use the Volunteer Center to list their volunteer opportunities and the Volunteer Center matches volunteers to those needs. The Volunteer Center is looking for volunteers of all ages and abilities. They are looking for individuals, families and groups.

Volunteer Centers are also an educational resource for volunteerism. They have books, videos, promotional items and will help you design a program to suit your needs. Volunteer Centers are great at delivering creative solutions to community needs! Your local Volunteer Center will be glad to help you find a volunteer project for your Religious Education class, Confirmation class, or any program you are involved with. They are also available to talk with groups about volunteer opportunities.
